

Local community life

Support the local community. We will recognise and encourage connections between local residents and develop and nurture a thriving village community where each person feels welcomed and accepted.

This is why we are committed to:

- Improve pedestrian safety
- Support the creation of cooperative housing and affordable rented accommodation.
- Improve access to quality health care.
- Participate towards travel expenses for students and apprentices.
- Encourage the development of cultural activities and promote intercultural and intergenerational exchange.
- Create a multi-purpose hall that is suitable for the requirements of the population.

Heritage, energy and sustainability

The village is part of our patrimony and belongs to us all. We want to value it so that the whole village community benefits. We aspire to create a dynamic economy based on the interconnection of small enterprises.

This is why we are committed to:

- Support local businesses and short supply chains.
- Renovate and refurbish buildings owned by the Commune..
- Preserve our natural landscape heritage and our historic buildings.
- Promote renewable energies, in particular solar thermal energy.

Tourism diversification

We want to diversify the range of mid-mountain tourism activities for the benefit of all local stakeholders through activities based on our natural environment and the promotion of locally produced products.

This is why we are committed to:

- Strengthen tourist attractions and activities throughout the year that have a low environmental impact.
- Promote pedestrian tourism such as hiking.
- Balance the investments between activities and infrastructure.
- Develop tourist activities that are accessible for everyone.

Participatory democracy and transparency

People living in Leysin must feel represented by their elected officials and have trust in them. We will defend a vibrant democracy, because we believe that solutions emerge from dialogue and that transparency is an essential condition for a quality debate.

This is why we are committed to:

- Broadcast the meetings of the Conseil Communal online.
- Establish a register of interest for all elected officials.
- Organise participatory public meetings on important themes.
- Invite young people, and new citizens, to invest themselves in public and political life.
